

A nobleman believed to be Frederick, Prince of Wales
(1707-1751)

SOLD

REF: 4143

Short Description

A nobleman believed to be Frederick, Prince of Wales (1707-1751) in blue coat with, gold frogging enamel, set in the original gold frame oval, 1 1/2 inches high

Zincke, born in Dresden, 1683, came to England in 1706, where he obtained the patronage of the Royalty and had a distinguished clientele.

Frederick Louis, being the eldest son of King George II had numerous of miniatures painted of him in enamel by Zincke, several examples of which, are in the Collection of Her Majesty the Queen.